Education, Employment, Citizenship:

Education:

Through a grant from the Illinois Community College Board, CMAA and its partner agencies— the largest and most diverse consortium in the State of Illinois— offered ESL and Civics classes to over 1,000 immigrants and refugees across the City of Chicago in FY16. Partners included such diverse agencies as Arab American Action Network, Ethiopian Community Association of Chicago, Indo-American Center, Korean American Community Services, and Muslim Women Resource Center, among others. Our adult education classes helped prepare students to participate fully in their communities, and covered such topics as: the rights of immigrants and U.S. citizens, U.S. history and governance, accessing community resources, consumer economics, and workforce readiness skills. With the support of United Way of Metropolitan Chicago, CMAA's Adult Education program also offered Financial Literacy workshops in English, Vietnamese, and Mandarin languages. Instructors and guest speakers from Cathay Bank and International Bank of Chicago offered clients a comprehensive overview of the U.S. banking system, assisted clients in opening savings accounts, taught the importance of building credit, and provided tips for preventing identity theft.

Employment:

CMAA staff counselors provided individualized employment preparation, referrals, and placement assistance to unemployed or underemployed community members. Our clients represented diverse professional backgrounds, such as healthcare, hospitality, and industrial work, and had various levels of education. Although CMAA primarily served immigrants and refugees, our Workforce Development Program also attracted native-born Americans who resided in Uptown and took advantage of the services available, including job readiness training, resume writing workshops, and digital literacy support. In calendar year 2016, we served 196 unique clients; our reputation as a provider of quality, hardworking employees has helped create a network of employers, such as Weiss Memorial Hospital, O'Hare International Airport, and Peninsula Hotel, who regularly contacted CMAA for staffing needs.

Citizenship:

Since 1996, CMAA has offered citizenship and immigration legal services to low-income immigrants and refugees seeking to apply for U.S. citizenship and other benefits. Our Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) accredited staff offered individualized legal counsel and case assistance at a low cost to clients and, often, in their native languages of Vietnamese, Cantonese, or Mandarin. In FY16, CMAA assisted over 245 clients apply for citizenship and prepare for the naturalization exam, and over 230 clients reunite with their families abroad, obtain green cards, or apply for work authorization.

Throughout the year, CMAA worked closely with the Chicago Board of Elections to organize early voting and non-partisan voter education events ahead of elections, providing interpretation in a variety of languages. On March 1, 2016 CMAA turned out 98 community members to vote early in the presidential and state primaries. For many of our clients, this was their first time voting. CMAA also organized around issues that affected our community, such as the ongoing IL state budget impasse. In May 2016, CMAA brought over 100 concerned clients to Springfield to meet with elected officials about this issue.

Social Services:

CMAA's social services department works with the Illinois Department of Human Services (IDHS) to break down language and cultural barriers to help low-income clients and families identify and access benefits that are available to them through local, state and federal programs. In fiscal year 2016, our direct service staff assisted over 600 clients and their families in applying for All Kids, SNAP, Medicaid, TANF and other public benefits. In addition, staff helped 1,237 low-income families and individuals apply for energy assistance to offset winter heating and summer cooling costs through the low-income heat and energy assistance program (LIHEAP). Furthermore, our housing services assisted clients with finding affordable and subsidized housing, providing assistance in understanding leases and foreclosures, and helping resolve tenant-landlord conflict. Staff also provided violent crime victim clients with information, resources, and referrals.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4d - Other Program Services Description

Youth Department:

CMAA's youth department serves youth from pre-school through young adulthood. Youth programs are specifically designed to work with local immigrant and minority youth, with the overarching goal of helping clients reach their full potential through emotional, social, academic, and professional skills building.

CMAA's after school program serves youth from K to 8th grade and meets weekdays throughout the school year from 3-6 p.m. Each term (fall/winter and winter/spring) the program enrolls between 60-70 students, and in fiscal year 2016, the program enrolled approximately 140 total youth. The program mainly serves low-income immigrant and minority youth, with approximately 95% of youth (FY16) coming from low to extremely-low income households and approximately 98% being children of color. As most of the children come from low-income families, CMAA asks for a suggested donation of only $50 for the fall and spring term, and $120 for the full-day summer camp, thus truly providing affordable, responsible afterschool care.

An anchor of CMAA's after school program is homework help, and each day the students spend one hour studying, with staff and volunteer university students assisting the children. Many of CMAA's program participants come from families where parents are limited in their ability to help their children with homework, and most parents work late into the evening or have low English language proficiency. The study time and homework help CMAA provides is crucial for homework completion. To assist students that need extra tutoring, CMAA recruits volunteers from local universities, and the agency currently has partnerships with Northwestern University, DePaul University, and Loyola University.

CMAA also provides extracurricular activities for students in the after school program. Through the after school program's "Speaker Series," a variety of ethnically diverse professional speakers such as doctors, lawyers, IT consultants, and artists, rotate in to speak with youth about their careers and life. Youth are also allowed daily recreation time to be on computers or play in the park, weather permitting.

CMAA is proud of the cultural diversity of its community, and offers regular classes to the children in Mandarin and Vietnamese languages. Similarly, CMAA is one of the few agencies that has programming to teach the children cultural dances from their countries of origin.

CMAA is proud that its after school program also has a strong civic engagement component. Throughout the year, CMAA staff and volunteers try to teach participating children about pertinent issues in the community, and how government, the private sector and nonprofit organizations like CMAA intersect to solve any such issues. During every election cycle, CMAA educates the children regarding major candidates who are running for office, and schedules mock debates and mock elections. It is our fervent hope that as these children grow and mature, they will continue to actively participate in the electoral process.

Incorporated in the after school program is a small section specifically for youth residents from Chicago Housing Authority (CHA) households, and in fiscal year 2016, CMAA served 17 youth from CHA residencies. Youth in CMAA's CHA after school program participate in all the same activities as youth in the regular program. In addition, through the CHA after school program, CMAA has been able to include non-violence peace training in its regularly scheduled programming. All youth participants participate in peace circles twice a month. Peace circles help youth develop their skills for sharing, conflict resolution, and recognizing emotions.

When school is not in session, CMAA runs a popular summer camp program, which meets weekdays from the end of June to the end of August from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Summer camp programming enhances school time education, and youth take classes in science, math, reading, and writing, as well as participate in arts and crafts. Youth also take weekly Mandarin Chinese language classes and are allowed approximately 45 minutes of recreation time per day. Life skills workshops in health, nutrition, and financial literacy are also offered, and students are encouraged to explore the city through field trips to the Shedd Aquarium and Lincoln Park Zoo. In fiscal year 2016, CMAA enrolled approximately 70 students in its summer camp program, with an average daily attendance of 50 students per day. Over 90% of students in CMAA's summer camp come from low to extremely-low income households, and over 98% are children of color.

CMAA offers programming for young adults through mentoring, and its young women's mentoring group, Young Women Warriors, has existed for more than 15 years. Young Women Warriors, or YWW, is a free, year-round mentorship program that brings young women ages 11 to 18 together with older female mentors that are successful leaders and role models in their community. In FY2016, YWW served 19 girls in college, high school and middle school. Approximately 90% of these girls were from families that are low-income, and most of the participants are young women of color. Currently, all the mentors are Asian American professional women. A youth-led, group mentoring program, YWW mentors and mentees meet twice a month for a variety of workshops and activities, including applying for college, financial literacy, female health, rock climbing, kayaking, and more. YWW's goal is to help mentees develop on all levels and create a long-lasting support network for female participants.
